PREFACE

THE list of names given in the Brasenose Register is based primarily on College archives, but many have been added from other sources, such as the publications of the Oxford Historical Society, and Foster's Alumni Oxonienses. For the first period (1509–1575) the chief source is the Vice-Principal's Register,¹ the earliest date in which is February 26, 15 $\frac{39}{40}$. This Register is concerned mainly with the acts of the Governing Body, but it also contains lists of members of the College in residence at certain dates (the first being June 24, 1549), occasional admissions, and lists of College Officers (viz. Vice-Principal, Bursars, and praelector publicus) from 1559–60 onwards. In 1576, so far as Brasenose men are concerned, the University Matriculation Register begins, and is the chief source of information up to 1602. For the sixty years from 1602 to 1662 there is a copy of the 'first and earliest Admission Book belonging to the College'. This copy was made by the Rev. John Holmes, Fellow of the College (1770–88). The original is not now to be found. In 166 $\frac{2}{3}$ the Caution Book begins. This was used by Holmes for his list of names, but the original is still preserved. Other sources are lists of admissions and applications for admission. A list of Fellows up to Principal Yate's time is given in the very valuable Register which he compiled, and has been continued to the present date.

Up to 1800, the date not only of matriculation, but also of admission to the College (adm.), of entry in the buttry book (b.), and of cautioning (c.), is given when there is any difference in the dates, and when they are recorded. From 1876 onwards the exact date of matriculation is not registered, but only the Term, L(ent), E(aster), M(ichaelmas), is given. The only exception is when (as in the seventies was not uncommon) men were matriculated late in the Summer Term, with a view to beginning residence in the following Michaelmas Term. More exact information, if required, can be readily obtained from the University Gazette, which began in 1870.

Similarly the day and month of the Degree are not given after 1800. The date of the Degree, unless otherwise stated, is that of admission, or licence, not that of determination or inception. In this connexion it may be noticed that the College grace for Degrees was in early times, as a rule, granted conditionally, on the performance of certain exercises, &c. Some specimens of these conditions have been given. But generally it has not been thought worth while to record the date and conditions of the grace, if the Degree was subsequently taken.

The order in which the facts are stated is as follows, though it is only from 1800 onwards that anything like so complete a record has been attempted, or is even possible:—

Name, County, School, Status. Then follow in chronological order: (1) Details of University career (i.e. date of matriculation; University and College distinctions and offices; Degrees). (2) Other facts derived from College archives. (3) Date of removal of name from the College books, if known, and if previous to the person's death. (4) Athletic record. (5) College Clubs. (6) Facts of after life. (7) Benefactions. (8) Works. (9) References to books, &c., giving further information.

Where there is no date of year given, it must be understood that the year is that of the next entry, e.g. Fellow February 23, incorporated February 26, 1802, means elected Fellow February 23, 1802, incorporated February 26, 1802.

Unless otherwise stated, the date attached to a Fellowship is that of election as Probationer, not of admission to the status of 'verus et perpetuus socius' at the end of the year of Probation. This applies to all Fellowships before the Statutes made under the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge Act, 1877, and to Ordinary Fellowships since the date of those Statutes. There is no Probationary year for Official Fellows.

The status of the father (e.g. arm., cler., gen.) has been recorded up to 1875; from 1876 onwards this has been dropped, on the ground that of late years the distinction between 'armiger', 'generosus', &c., has ceased to have the significance which it once had,¹ and the designation of 'armiger' has been loosely applied, and in different ways, by successive College authorities. The f. for 'filius' has been omitted except where the omission might cause ambiguity. Thus, e.g. arm. is always to be understood as 'armigeri filius'.

Names² are placed under the first year in which there is any record of connexion with Brasenose or any other College in the University. Hence a Fellow of the College, who matriculated at some other College, is placed under the year of his matriculation, not that of his admission to Brasenose.³ Before 1576 the year under which a name is placed may often be considerably later than that in which the connexion with the College or the University began.

The foundation to which any Scholarship belonged is noted, when known, up to the end of the eighteenth century, but the record is very imperfect. The Scholarships, being of small value, were often lumped together, and a Scholar might hold simultaneously Scholarships on different foundations, or several Scholarships on the same foundation. In the case of the Nowell Scholarships, six or even twelve of them were sometimes held together. The conditions attached to the several foundations are given in the Quatercentenary Monographs, vol. i, Mon. iv. When Scholars fulfilling these conditions were not forthcoming, others not so qualified were sometimes substituted for them. After 1800 no attempt has been made to record the foundation to which each Scholarship belonged, with the exception of the Hulme and Somerset foundations, but some information on this point may be obtained from the University Calendar, which begins in 1810 and has been annually issued since 1813. The Scholarships on the foundations of Joyce Frankland, John Claymond, Humphrey Ogle, James Binks (otherwise James Stoddard), Hugh Henley, Thomas Church, and Thomas Yate, were abolished in 1857 by an Ordinance of the Commissioners acting under the Oxford University Commission of 1854.

² Where a name occurs in several forms, the first is usually that which is given as the normal form in the Index to A. Clark's Register of the University of Oxford 1571-1622, O.H.S., vol. xiv. This at least was the Editor's original intention, though he fears that it may not have been uniformly carried out.

The record of Somerset Scholarships and Hulme Exhibitions is as complete as it can be made. A list of Hulme Exhibitioners from 1692 to 1827 is given in Whatton's History of Manchester Grammar School, published in 1828, and from that date onwards the information is derived partly from the University Calendar, and partly from documents in the possession of the College.

With regard to the Hulme foundation it must be observed that under a Scheme framed by the Charity Commissioners, which came into force in 1881, Senior and Junior Exhibitions (subsequently in 1900 altered to Senior and Junior Scholarships) took the place of the old Exhibitions, and also that in 1900 Exhibitions were added, similar to the Junior Scholarships, but of smaller value.

Up to the year 1855 the various foundations under which each Fellow was elected are duly registered. The Fellowships on the original foundation were to be awarded to natives of the diocese of Coventry and Lichfield, with a preference for natives of Lancashire and Cheshire, and especially natives of Prescott in Lancashire [the birthplace of William Smyth], and Prestbury in Cheshire [the seat of the Sutton family and probably the birthplace of Richard Sutton]. Failing fit candidates from the diocese aforesaid, the Principal and Fellows were to be natives of the diocese of Lincoln, and failing this, to be taken 'de aptioribus et habilioribus qui in Universitate praedicta reperiri poterunt'. The conditions of eligibility to the Fellowships, other than those on the original foundation, are given in the Quatercentenary Monographs, vol. i, Mon. iv. In 1855 the Commissioners framed an Ordinance, by which it was laid down that no preference should be given to any person in election to any Fellowship 'in respect of such person's place of birth, or of his being of the name, lineage, kindred, or consanguinity of any person named in any charter, or other instrument of foundation or endowment'. From 1856 onwards, therefore, the record of the particular foundation disappears.

The College Officers were normally appointed in December, just before Christmas, so that their period of office extended over part of two calendar years. Thus, e.g. a Vice-Principal appointed in 1601, held office from December, 1601, to December, 1602. The Bursars, however, originally, as shown by the Bursars' Rolls, held office from Michaelmas to Michaelmas. A Rescript from the Visitor in 1717 directs that they shall enter upon their offices on or before St. Thomas's Day. The only College Offices which have been regularly recorded in vol. i are those of Vice-Principal, and Senior and Junior Bursar. In the lists of College Officers, the dates prefixed to the names are those of appointment to the Office.¹

In connexion with College Offices it may be well to mention that Tutorships do not, strictly speaking, fall under that category. Tutors are appointed by the Principal, and not by the College, and hence there has not till lately been any official record of such appointments. Tutorships are therefore not recorded in the Register before the middle of the nineteenth century.

A list of the chief College Clubs,¹ with the dates of their foundation, is given in this volume. There is no book containing the names of members of the Vampires, and the record in the Register is therefore incomplete. Only those former members are recorded who have mentioned the fact of their having belonged to the Club in the letters which the Editor has received from them.

The date given for appointment to a benefice, if it is one of the College livings, is generally that of the day on which the vote for presentation was passed by the College. In some cases it may be that of institution or induction, and, when this is known to be so, it is stated as such. The appointment to a College living is placed under the category of facts belonging to the College and University career.

In the designation of Canons and Prebendaries the titles have been usually given in accordance with Le Neve's Fasti Ecclesiae Anglicanae, but in this, as in other matters, the Editor is conscious that complete uniformity has not been attained. His excuse must be that it has been difficult to secure such uniformity in work which has been done at intervals spread over many years.

It has not been thought desirable to burden the Register by inserting all the facts which may be found in well-known and easily accessible books of reference, such as the Dictionary of National Biography, a reference to which has

in all cases been given under any name which is contained in it. It must be understood that Foster's Alumni Oxonienses should always be consulted in regard to any person about whom further information is desired. This applies especially to the period 1509–1800, up to which latter date a man's subsequent career is indicated only when it possesses any special interest, or when it has been possible to supplement the information given in ordinary books of reference.

For fuller details as to Benefactions, as well as many other matters contained in the Register, reference should be made to the two volumes of Quatercentenary Monographs.

The list of works has been drawn up from the catalogue of the books by Brasenose authors contained in the College Library (works which are in the Library being marked by a †), but it has been added to from other sources, especially from the British Museum Catalogue which has been used for all known Brasenose authors.¹ This laborious task has been executed by Mr. W. T. Coxhill. It is not supposed that the list of works is exhaustive, and in this connexion, as in the Register generally, there may be many errors in identification; but it is hoped that the work which has been done may at least prove to be a serviceable foundation for a more complete bibliography, which may be undertaken by some successor who can devote more time to its production. It should be added that in the case of most men who have had only a slight connexion with the College, as for instance Professor Sayce and the late Provost of Oriel, a list of their works has not been given. It appeared sufficient to state generally that they were authors.

The Editor regrets that there were in the first volume of the Register so many omissions and mistakes—

quas aut incuria fudit

Aut humana parum cavit natura.

¹ Many additions to the list of authors or works given in the present volume are derived from a manuscript list compiled by the Rev. W. E. Buckley, which was unfortunately overlooked when the first volume of the Register was being prepared.

Some of these were due to the haste with which the volume was at the last moment brought out—haste which was prompted by the natural desire that the book might be published by the day on which the College Quatercentenary was celebrated. Mistakes, however, would anyhow have been made, even if fuller time had been allowed for the preparation of the book. In a Register of this kind it is inevitable that there should be many slips which can only be corrected by the help of others after publication.

For the bulk of the additions and corrections in the record of the nineteenth century the Editor is indebted to Mr. M. H. Green, Fellow of Trinity College, Oxford, and to Mr. G. B. Routledge, to whom are due his most grateful acknowledgements for their kindness, and for the interest which they have taken in the Brasenose Register. They have sent him a large number of facts and suggestions, those contributed by Mr. Green being chiefly, though not entirely, dates of death, which will be useful as a clue to possible obituary notices, those sent by Mr. Routledge comprising many other details. Some of this information has been omitted, as lying outside the scope of the book, but all of it will be preserved, and may be utilized in other ways at some later date. The Editor will always be glad to receive any further corrections and additions, and hopes that means may be found to publish them for the benefit of members of the College, though he cannot expect that a second edition of the Register in its present form will ever be required.

The Index¹ of names has been prepared by Mr. Coxhill, and has been carefully revised by Mr. T. H. Penson. The list of abbreviations is the joint work of both. All the other lists contained in the volume have been compiled by Mr. Coxhill, who has also provided the materials for the Charts. The second volume of the Register is mainly their work, and the Editor is greatly indebted to them for the labour and care which they have bestowed upon it.

¹ The Index must be understood to refer to both volumes; and any name as to which information is desired should be looked for in the second volume as well as in the first under the year given in the Index, on the chance that there may be some addition or correction to be noted. It has not been thought necessary to index the various lists contained in the second volume.

He desires to express his appreciation of the accuracy and skill with which the book has been printed by the Clarendon Press, and of the assistance which he has throughout received from the Controller, Mr. Horace Hart.

In conclusion, he must reiterate his obligations to Mr. F. Madan for his continued assistance and advice, nor can he refrain from mentioning the help which he has received from his sister, Miss C. E. B. Heberden.

WORKS: Essay on Duelling, 1807; Sketches in Greece, &c.

He had passed with some distinction through his under-graduate course at Oxford, and he left it, as he continued to the close of his life, a fair classical scholar. He was a member of Brazenose, at which College the date of his matriculation was the 25th April 1804; and in 1807 he contended successfully for the prize in English prose composition, though it was afterwards found that he had not completed the four years' residence necessary to qualify him for receiving the prize awarded. I have not seen this Essay, but the subject was 'Duelling', and we may well believe that the feeling of the gentleman, as well as the scholar's accomplishments, were conspicuous in a composition which on such a theme could bear away the palm from many high-spirited competitors. The Principal and Fellows of Brazenose testified their sense of his merit on the occasion, and their sympathy with the accident that diverted its due reward from himself to another member of their college, Mr. Allen, by voting him, out of the college funds, a magnificently bound copy of the three splendid quartos of Musgrave's Euripides, which to the last day of his life occupied the most conspicuous place in his little library at Lilies, and from which I copy the following inscription: 'Honoratissimo Domino, GEORGIO GRENVILLE, cui in Cancellarii Oxoniensis certamine Palmam ob ingenii splendorem Academia lubenter adiudicavit, eam tamen reportandam ob Quadriennium nondum exactum victori invita denegavit, hoc munusculum ut eius merita et suam ipsorum comprobationem testentur, D.D., Principalis et Socii Collegii Aenei Nasi, MDCCCVII.'
